The fruit growers of British Columbia have by resolution determined to make the Dominion government to raise the duty on fresh fruit to a parity with the United States duty. The necessity for this will be understood when it is explained that 50 per cent. of the fruit consumed in the prairie provinces is from the United States and only about 15 per cent. from British Columbia.—Victoria Colonist. @

Climatic Influences in Alberta

Given Recently by Wm. Dixon, M. D., at the Wetaskiwin Polytechnic

Alberta, situated as it is on the towns and cities. But in the state-eastern slope of the Rockies, its elevation varying from 2000 to from the country and 232 from the towns. Which proves that Mr. Huestis' theory is not backed up by facts, a large amount of sunshine and a small amount of rainfall. The adage, "Five hours sun shine is worth a month in the sun," is true.

But in the southern portion there is often a very high daily variation of temperature, also a marked tendency light complexion should attempt to race had been won on this continent. Needing cleared land for agriculture, we began in the woods, and now when we need the woods we begin on the cleared land. The prairie should have been placed near the Atlantic and the wood land in the northwest. Arranged as it was with the forest on the land that was close to the market for its products, forest destruction was at first a necessity and became a habit. Fire, the good servant is clearing the land, ran rampant, carrying forest destruction beyond the necessities of the people.

The earliest settlers coming from Europe were used to forest conservation. They had practised it in the countries from which they came. Forest destruction was to them a new thing; but the forests were so vast that they thought never could be a scarcity of wood, and when the forests were destroyed the more the agricultural interests of the country would be advanced. But the modern settler sees the forest in a different light, especially so in the great North-West, where on the wide prairie wood is a luxury. To him forest conservation is the necessity not forest destruction.

He has no delight in the devastation of the woods by fire and he has with the help of legislation and management tending to improve the condition of the forest. He sees clearly that his comfort and his agricultural interests are closely dependent upon a plentiful supply of wood.

The upper portions of the hardiest trees to fill do not get enough light to keep them in a healthy condition, and this is where we find the commencement of fully ripe teeth of man—with special reference to consumption in the West." The content of the paper was that after years of this stimulation there would be a resulting depression and exhaustion. He even expressed the opinion that many diseases, whose origin is obscure may be laid in this country to lack of nervous vigor, due to excessive sunlight. The adult male is able to bear the sun shine for some time, but women down under it faster, while children suffer from it both directly and indirectly, for children, begotten by parents whose nervous force has declined cannot be a vigorous race. Nature abhors acidity by producing sterility in the third generation.

He also expresses doubt whether the white man will ever permanently colonize the West.

You can readily see, then, the importance of the subject under discussion. Is our nervous vitality being exhausted? Are we degenerating? If Rev. Mr. Huestis is right, then we are only wasting our time by living here. Every year we are becoming weaker and less capable. But, I think that we can prove that he is wrong, and that the climate of Alberta is rejuvenating, and invigorating, instead of depressing and degenerating.

There is a wide spread impression among the laity, that this country is hard on nerves. It remains for us to prove, or see whether this nervousness, as it is called, is a state of stimulation, or a state of depression, and whether or not it is injurious.

Medical authorities state that no nervous matter was even too excitable that it is business to be excited. In over excitability the race horse differs from the jack ass.

The more excitable we are the higher and quicker our life.

Will this over-excitability in time lead to exhaustion?

Dr. Lincoln, of Calgary, gathered statistics from about 225 physicians, practicing in the province, with the result that 347 cases of nerve weakness were reported, about an average of 4 cases to each doctor reporting, and these men have practiced in the province from one to thirteen years. 8 reported they had never had a case.

These figures show that a form of nerve weakness, severe enough to cause the patient to seek the aid of a physician, is a very rare disease. One man who has practiced thirty years doing a large general practice, says he has only seen two or three cases in all that time.

The causes of nerve weakness are hereditary tendencies and excessive work, or more correctly strain, for it is doubtful if work itself ever injured any man. But excessive work unaccompanied by worry and strain, is what plays horse with our nervous system.

In this country, where the majority of people are here for the purpose of worldly gain, and are straining every fibre in their anatomy to obtain it at the same time depriving themselves of many of the comforts of life, which they have formerly been accustomed to enjoy, one would not be surprised if he found a predominance of nervous wrecks. But we have already shown that it is a very rare disease. Does this not prove that the climate of Alberta is not a degenerating influence? Again if sun light is the creative agent there would be more cases in the country than in the sun why forests should be preserved? They furnish wood feed springs, prevent floods, hinder erosion, shelter from storms, protect the game and fish, and give the country aesthetic features. How then can the forests best be preserved?

How to Preserve Forests

To protect the forest from fire is the first law. In our forests where old logs lie everywhere, on the ground, and where the lumbermen leave the tops of trees, and gather the brush into heaps as if getting the wood for burning, the question is difficult. In Europe where the brush is all utilized, and where even the stamps are taken out of the ground for fuel, the problem is comparatively simple.

The forestry branch of the department of the Interior keeps constant in the woods a large force of fire rangers, whose duty is to prevent and extinguish forest fires. They prevent fire by posting along roads, trails, and streams cloth notices which state the law in regard to burning fallen logs, stumps, brush grass and straw stacks in violation of the law.

Declarative Loss From Fire

When a forest fire occurs there is a deplorable loss. I look upon the forest as a great chemical laboratory, using air, earth and water, and combining them together for the use of the people. Fire comes along the way of the people. Fire comes along the stops and the people have to do with it.

There is a common notice that the forest will restore itself, and that valuable species of trees will by natural seedling again cover the soil. Such hope is in most cases vain. Poplar and birch will probably occupy the ground, but the hope that the spruce and the tamarack will again cover the ground is just a poetic dream. These to be sure do reproduce in certain places and on certain soils if one observes carefully the conclusion is forced upon him that this kind of reproduction of the conifer is not going on with sufficient rapidity to furnish a perpetual supply of timber to meet the demand of the country.

If the centers are to be kept in the reserves in commercial quantity they will need to be reproduced artificially, either by sowing the seed or planting small trees. The Canadian government has already begun this to provide for the future.

The Forester's Work

The forest cannot be properly managed without the cutting of trees. Like the farmer, the forester has his seed time and his harvest. Agriculture produces food crops; forestry, wood crops. The lumberman harvests the natural wood crop, which nature has taken about two hundred years to produce; the forester harvests an artificial one, which takes him about eight years to produce. The lumberman takes in his harvest everything from which he can make present profits; the forester leaves the smaller trees in the forest to grow into future values. It is of no concern to the lumberman if the falling timbers crush little trees or the skidding tears them out by the roots. They offer no present profit and he looks upon them as worthless, but the forester sees in these young trees his future harvest and gives them his most earnest care.

The lumberman's path has been full of fire. In many cases he has been followed by flaming forests and dense clouds of smoke. But in the forest roads trees green grow, forests again flourish on the denuded wastes, and stand upon the whole country the benign influences.

Forests are needed also for health, rest and recreation, and to furnish feed and shelter for the game and the fish.

The esthetic value the forests have for the country one learns to appreciate in travelling over it.

The trees with their variety of form and richness of coloring, clothing the hills and bordering the lakes and streams, lend a peculiar grace and loveliness to the landscape.

Mr. R. Ridout had a very successful sale. He leaves this week on a long visit to the East.

Mr. Clarence Svensen returned to his home last week.

Mr. Ralph Parker moves to the Ridout home.

The election has the farmers going, this time, for sure. Auction sales and dog fights are not in it.

Mr. Hosford delivered a large bunch of hogs on Monday.

Mr. W. Sharp of Wetaskiwin, visited our bough, on Saturday.

Here is a motto that ought to be impressed on the electors, of Alberta. Gentlemen will not spit on the floor, others must not. The above ought to be enforced, at every political meeting especially where they are held in the schools. Some children are not used to living in a house where the walls and floors are continually stained by tobacco juice, and we do not consider that the trustees are doing right when they allow men to come into their school building and litter it with such filth. We believe that to compel all tobacco users to carry a pithoon would be a great blessing.

Mr. Gross reported that the tank at Compton's corner had been left over until the weather gets warmer.

O'Brien—Higgs—That the fire and water committee be requested to go into matter of purchase of compressor or with Mr. Taylor, with power to be authorized to sign name.

ALBERTA TEMPERANCE AND MORAL REFORM

Three Day Session at Wetaskiwin
Conducive of Important Resolutions

Wetaskiwin, Alberta, March 18.

The third annual convention of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League, at which there were 50 delegates in attendance from all parts of the Province, closed its business to-night, after having been in continuous session from Tuesday morning.

The convention which was held in the Wetaskiwin Methodist church, was opened by J. R. Cowell, president of the league for Alberta.

The following report of the proceedings has been handed to the press for publication:

On nomination of the secretary Rev. G. G. Webber, the Rev. W. G. W. Fortune and Mr. Williams, of Edmonton were appointed assistant secretaries.

The following committees were then appointed: A nominating committee, a resolution, a constitution, a press committee and a finance committee.

The secretary, Rev. G. G. Webber then read the annual report of the executive committee from which we glean the following facts:

Your executive committee in presenting this, their third annual report record with pleasure the substantial progress made during the past year. Since our last convention held in the city of Calgary, on March 4th and 5th, 1908, the work of the league has grown in breadth of its operation as well as in its general effectiveness of the organization.

The attention of the education department was called to the Guiltless series health readers for use in public schools.

At the time of our convention held in Calgary, one year ago, our field secretary, the Rev. W. G. W. Fortune of Red Deer, had but recently entered upon his work, so that this may be considered the first annual report in which the operations of our field secretary are included. In accordance with the provisions of our constitution this work has been carried on under the directions of your executive committee.

The following is a summary of the Rev. W. G. W. Fortune's work for the past 12 months: Number of places visited 113; number of new branches organized 49; number of meetings addressed 194; number of new members added 1322; amount of subscriptions, fees, etc., secured, $4,873.40; total estimated membership of all branches of the league, 1,500; total number of branches to date, sixty.

The annual report closed with the following paragraph:

"When we recognize the magnitude of the work in which we are engaged and the importance of this work to this young and rapidly developing province, we say that what may have been accomplished up to the present is a very small fraction of what remains to be done. However we would take courage and press on with wisdom, tact and energetic efforts, realizing that our work is of a truly patriotic character and one that will more and more engage the sympathy and co-operation of those who desire the highest welfare of this province, and of our beloved Dominion of Canada."

Wednesday's meeting resolved committee's report.

First.—That the convention reaffirm its position as stated in the constitution that the total prohibition of the traffic in intoxicants is the goal of our endeavor and one which we desire to reach as soon as possible.

Second.—That our local option law be simplified; that a $100 deposit to secure a vote be not required and that local option be granted on a majority vote.

Third.—We affirm that the total elimination of liquor from all clubs in our province would be in the interests of our citizens generally.

Fourth.—Adhering to our principle, "The election of men of good character and ability to public affairs," we cannot too strongly deprecate the possibility of the election of any licensed veterinarian to a seat in a legislature of Alberta.

Fifth.—We would re-affirm the resolution of last year, that we request the legislature of Alberta to amend the license ordinance, that no new applications for applications for licenses, whether wholesale or retail, can be considered by any board of license commissioners, unless it be accompanied by a petition, containing the names of a majority of the householders in the provincial polling subdivision in which application or license is made.

Sixth.—In view of the prevalence of gambling and betting in our province and the magnitude of the evil, we would humbly petition the Dominion parliament, to so amend the statutes that it will be a much easier matter to secure a convention under the betting and gambling laws and thus aid in suppressing the evil.

Seventh.—That the convention has heard with pleasure the report of the text books for pupils and teachers, and look forward to the obligatory teaching of hygiene and temperance in our schools in the near future.

We would put ourselves on record as condemning every means adopted to corrupt the electorate, would urge upon the various political parties to keep themselves clear of all such, and would seek to emphasize to the people generally the sacredness of the ballot, believing that:

"The crowning fact,
The single act
Of foolishness,
Is the Freeman's vote."

Wednesday afternoon.

At the afternoon session, the question of starting an official organ was discussed and the report of the nominating committee was received.

The sessions of this convention throughout were marked by the intense earnestness and by an animated and intelligent discussion of all matters and items of business brought before the delegates present.

A public meeting was held on Wednesday evening, which was addressed by J. R. Cowell and by the Rev. W. G. Fortune.

At Thursday evening's session addressed were delivered by Mrs. McKinley, of Oldham and by J. E. Brown, official organizer of the International order of good templars.

Your executive committee in presenting this, their third annual report record with pleasure the substantial progress made during the past year.

Since our last convention held in the city of Calgary, on March 4th and 5th, 1908, the work of the league has grown in breadth of its operation as well as in its general effectiveness of the organization.

The attention of the education department was called to the Guiltless series health readers for use in public schools.

At the time of our convention held in Calgary, one year ago, our field secretary, the Rev. W. G. W. Fortune of Red Deer, had but recently entered upon his work, so that this may be considered the first annual report in which the operations of our field secretary are included. any election, there being 528 who
